

Lamperd Less Lethal Receives 400% Larger Follow-Up Order from Major Distributor with Even Larger Additional Order Expected

Demand Rising Significantly for Flash Grenades and Other Lamperd Products

SARNIA, ON--(Marketwired - September 6, 2016) - Lamperd Less Lethal, Inc. (OTC : LLLI) today announces that a new purchase order has been received from the company's major west coast distributor, Lockhart Tactical (<http://www.lockharttactical.com/>), which is 400% larger than each of the two previous orders recently announced. This new order is already funded and paid to Lamperd and is planned to be delivered in entirety before the end of October or sooner.

Lockhart Tactical is currently carrying the Lamperd line on its own website and has stated that they are very impressed with the rising interest and demand for our flash grenades and other high-tech security products. Vancouver police have already used a flash grenade to successfully disorient and capture a dangerous suspect with no harm to anyone. Because of this success and the growing interest in flash grenades and other Lamperd products, Lockhart has informed us that they intend to place an additional order in the near future which will be even larger than any received to date.
